

PRESS RELEASE

Nanoscale Powders LLC Relocating Operations to Fitchburg

Boston, MA | April 5, 2016

Nanoscale Powders LLC ("NSP"), the Boston-based producer of specialty metal powders, is pleased to announce that it has signed a multiyear lease for an industrial site in Fitchburg, MA. NSP will be relocating operations to Massachusetts from their current locations in York County, Pennsylvania.

Andrew Matheson, President of NSP, commented, "We are pleased to be able to take this significant step forward for our company, as we scale up our patented manufacturing process. We will be establishing our production facilities over the spring, with operations scheduled to start during the summer. Our focus will be on titanium and titanium alloy powders for aerospace, medical and industrial markets. The greater Fitchburg area has a tradition of manufacturing and represents an ideal home for the next stage in the growth of NSP."

For further information, please contact:

Andrew Matheson, andrew.matheson@nanoscalepowders.com

www.nanoscalepowders.com.